My swords school is the sword of giving life school and when I started to teach Combat, I noticed that many teach how to kill with a knife and explain the knife in the wrong way. You can kill with a stone... the knife is the most important tool for humans. We use it for our survival every day and with connecting to my personal history and way of life and principles and with consulting with knife masters. Based on the origin of the knife, gotten from my father, and with my experiences as Olympic fencing coach and knife fighting teacher as also Japanese swordsmanship I come to design this knife which will be the base for a workshop we teach in KAPAP called "Only Knife" and the students need take ONLY a knife and go into the woods all by themselves and survive. From building their own shelter, getting their food, water, fire, and taking care for all their needs to survive. The idea is that with my g knife you save life and survive. This is the main idea for this knife- to give life, not to take life.
